BAC will not be liable for any indirect losses, including consequential losses (third-party claims, loss of reputation), nor loss of opportunity, non-material damage or loss of data. BAC will not be liable for the performance of third-party products or services.

Insofar as BAC has put in place the standard security measures against viruses, spyware, malware or other types of malicious code, BAC will not be liable for losses caused by these types of risks. BAC is not able to guarantee that such measures provide full protection against malicious code.

In the event that BAC were to be held liable for infringements of the intellectual property rights of third parties, BAC reserves the right to put a stop to such infringements in the manner that BAC considers to be the most appropriate. In the event that a customer were to be held accountable as the infringing party, BAC will indemnify the customer subject to the proviso that the customer does not agree any settlement or make any admission of guilt without the permission of BAC.

13. Force majeure
